ABSTRACT

With the ending of Q1 2021, UEDC(United Emirate Coin) announces the First Arab Decentralized Cryptocurrency. United Emirate Decentralized Coin (UEDC) is an open source, anonymous peer-to-peer Created based on The Binance Smart Chain Coin carefully developed by Industry experts based in the Middle East. United Emirate Decentralized Coin is a global payment network that is fully decentralized without central authorities which enable people to store and invest their wealth in a digital Currency based on the Binance Smart Chain.

The total supply is just 20M making it a huge potential for astronomical increase in price value making investors tons of profits trading and holding UEDC. Besides the UAE, Cryptocurrencies have been banned outright in Algeria, Iraq, Morocco, and Libya. Jordan has warned the public against the use of bitcoin. Even where a ban is in place, internet postings suggest people often flout the law. Despite the ban in Morocco a blockchain summit was held there last month and a US private equity firm is planning a controversial project to build a wind farm to mine bitcoin in the occupied Western Sahara. United Emirate Decentralized Coin aims to bridge the gap and encourage the usage of cryptocurrency in day to day financial transactions in the middle east and other Arab nations.

Kuwait does not recognize cryptocurrencies for official commercial transactions and prohibits the banking sector and state-controlled companies from trading them. Yet in January 2018 the CBK announced it would issue an e-currency, which it distinguished from a virtual currency, and in July a Kuwaiti financial firm announced the first ever blockchain-powered transaction in the country.

In Lebanon the Banque du Liban issued warnings about the dangers of cryptocurrencies and then last year announced it would launch its own. Media reports suggest some small businesses in Lebanon already accept Cryptocurrency.

What is Binance Smart Chain?

Binance Smart Chain (BSC) is a smart contract-enabled parallel blockchain to Binance Chain that provides a permissionless platform for decentralized application (DApps). While Binance Chain offers a high-throughput targeting active crypto trades, it lacks in the programmability department. Binance Smart Chain exists to change that. Binance launched Smart Chain to provide a high-speed, low-cost alternative for the burgeoning decentralized finance (DeFi) market, which has suffered from Ethereum's high transaction fees. Launched in September 2020, Binance Smart Chain boasts a five-second block time, cross-chain asset transfers, EVM compatibility, and a Proof of Staked Authority consensus protocol to ensure scalability.

The BEP20 Token Standard?

Binance Smart Chain has a BEP20 token standard that functions similarly to Ethereum's ERC20 standard. BEP20 is a developer-friendly token standard that allows anyone to deploy fungible digital currencies or tokens on Binance Smart Chain. What's more, leading digital assets on other chains can be ported onto Binance Smart Chain in the form of pegged BEP20 tokens. For example, you could use Binance Bridge to swap bitcoin (BTC) for BTCB (BEP20) tokens backed by BTC. BTCB (BEP20) tokens can then be deployed in DeFi protocols to earn yield on bitcoin. The same goes for ETH, XRP, DOGE, and many more.

What's Happening on Binance Smart Chain?

As a low-cost, high-speed alternative to Ethereum, backed by one of the largest crypto companies in the world, Smart Chain already boasts a wide range of DApps and DeFi apps on its chain. While some DeFi protocols have migrated over to Smart Chain from other blockchain networks, dozens of Smart Chain-native DApps have emerged and experienced substantial user growth since their inceptions. DeFi protocols, such as Pancake Swap, Venus, and Auto farm, make up most of the activity on BSC. But that does not mean Smart Chain is only for decentralized finance. Gaming and gambling DApps have also found a home on Smart Chain, and the first NFTs appeared in early 2021 to provide BSC users with the same crypto collectible experience found on other chains.

How to Access Binance Smart Chain?

Arguably, the easiest way to access the BSC ecosystem is using the Trust Wallet DApp Browser. The market-leading mobile DApp Browser allows anyone with a smartphone to securely access DApps and DeFi protocols on Binance Smart Chain with just a few clicks. Download Trust Wallet today and explore the Binance Smart Chain ecosystem.
